15 - 20 Homes To Go Here For Route 2 Reconstruction

Supports MTA Bill

Between 15 and 20 Arlington homes are scheduled to be taken for the reconstruction of Route 2 if the road is built according to the plan shown at a hearing of the State Department of Public Works last Friday.

More than 500 residents of Arlington, Lexington, and Belmont thronged the hearing room.

The entire face-lifting of Route 2 from the Lincoln, Lexington line to the Alewife Brook Parkway will cost more than $14,000,000.

Land taking notices will not go out before Spring or Summer and it will be at least another year after that before actual construction and wrecking starts.

Under an earlier plan, Arlington figured to lose 30 or more homes. The number now will probably not pass 20.

The plan posted for examination is similar to the original plan submitted on Route 2 with a few exceptions.

A service road has been added on the northeasterly side (outbound) from the Cambridge line to Lake street which means approximately 130 feet will be taken from the Star Market area.

FLASH!

As the Advocate was going to press last night, it was told that a bill of equity had been filed against the Town.

The report said that the bill of equity named the Town Manager, the members of the Arlington high school addition building committee and some others.

It was said that the bill charged flaws in the opening of bids or in the bidding itself on steel for the addition.

Decision Upheld

Town Clerk James J. Golden's decision to hold evening registration of voters in available libraries rather than open school buildings was substantiated this week.

One resident was registered at the Dallin Branch
Library and only four at the East Arlington Branch Monday night.

Golden said that he expects the registration to be light due to the heavy enrollment for the Presidential and State Elections in November.

MDC Rink In Danger In Route 2 Building

The reconstruction of Route 2 could possibly lead to the elimination of a proposed MDC skating rink along the current Route 2, a Town official said this week.

Prior to the hearing, the MDC had taken borings at the site and preliminary plans were already drawn.

HOW STAND YOU NOW, GENTLEMEN?

The majority of the Board of Selectmen this week went on record as opposed to House Bill H347 which is an act relative to public records and proceedings — in short open meetings of all public authorities.

Only Selectman Thomas R. Rawson said he was in favor of the bill.

The Board based its decision on a communication from the legal counsel of the Massachusetts Selectmen's Association which said that the Bill could be interpreted as to mean the prohibition of any executive sessions.

Members of the Board felt that this could lead to embarrassing situations regarding welfare cases and the like, and thus are in opposition to any such absolute rule.

However, we received a communication ourselves yesterday from David Brickman, chairman of the Freedoms of Information Committee. Enclosed was a substitute proposal to House Bill 417 which says executive meetings may be made by two-thirds vote of the Board in exactly such cases as those which caused the Board's opposition.

It is expected that Brickman will present the substitute proposal at a hearing before the Committee of State Administration next Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the State House. His proposal seems to clear up all doubts.

How stand you now, gentlemen?

MUST GIVE CAREFUL CONSIDERATION

One article in the Town Warrant which is almost sure to come under fire at the annual Town Meeting in March is the request for a $1,000,000 incinerator.

Last year, a committee was authorized to make a study and return with a recommendation for or against the building of an incinerator. After a lengthy investigation, the committee has come up in favor of the incinerator and an article has been placed in the Warrant.

There are many pros and cons, and all are sure to be aired before the Town Meeting.

The item which may hurt the proposal is, of course, money. Antagonists of the article will point out that the borrowing of $1,000,000 would probably be a 20 year loan basis or $50,000 a year for the next 20 years. This, they say, does not include interest. And these funds will be spent at no reduction in the Town's current cost of sanitation and disposal. Collection figures will remain the same.

In addition, many feel that the Town may continue to dispose of its rubbish with a sanitary fill procedure. After the area on the Concord Turnpike is finished, there will still be other places which may be used for disposal, it is felt.

On the other hand, experts point out that in five or six years, all available spots will have been used and then the incinerator will become an absolute necessity.

Thus it seems that the question comes down to whether or not the incinerator should be built now or at a future date.

The decision is up to the Town Meeting Members. They will have to carefully consider both the pros and cons.

DECISIONS BY TV

To the Editor:

The Greater Boston area now has a unique opportunity for studying the vital decisions to be made in 1957.

WGBH-FM and WGBH-TV (Channel 2) are presenting a series of weekly programs on the pressing problems confronting us.

After each program on a topic the discussion will be continued by listeners organized in groups.

Background information of a concise and very valuable nature for these programs and discussions has been provided by the Foreign Policy Association.

Kits of this material, plus an "opinion ballot" to be sent to members of Congress and the State Department are available.

The Arlington League is cooperating with this project and groups have been set up in different areas of Arlington. Citizens of Arlington are urged to participate in this program; to invite their friends and neighbors in to listen to the broadcasts and participate in the discussions which will follow.

Information and material may be obtained from Mrs. Joris Brinkerhoff, 50 Bradley rd. or Mrs. George D. Blackwood, 15 Orchard terrace.

Sincerely,
Ethel Blackwood

Research Fellow Urges 'Pound Bill'

A local resident, Charles McEwen, a research fellow in medicine, is urging the passage of the so-called "Pound Bill," Senate No. 315, which would permit the use of dogs and cats, picked up as strays and put into public pounds, for medical and surgical research.

McEwen said last week that he had contacted several local residents of prominence, including the clergy.

Heading the support for the Bill is Dr. A. Clifford Barger, president of the Massachusetts Society for Medical Research. Dr. Barger's letter to the Advocate follows:

January 18, 1957

Editor
The Arlington Advocate

Dear Sir:

Passage of the Medical Research Bill, No. 315, soon to be considered by the State Legislature, is essential to the health and welfare of every citizen of Massachusetts. To dispel any confusion which may have resulted from misleading and distorted information, here are a few facts for you and your readers.

The public is aware of the almost incredible advances in modern medicine which have brought untold benefits to the health of both humans and animals. Many fail to realize, however, that animal research is responsible for nearly all of these accomplishments.

Without such research we would not have the Salk vaccine for prevention of paralytic polio, penicillin and other antibiotics for treatment of infections, insulin for diabetes, hormone therapy for treatment of cancer and endocrine diseases, liver extract for use in pernicious anemia, and many others including most of the common drugs and home remedies available at neighborhood pharmacies.

Nor would surgeons have been able to develop the dramatic heart operations which today save the lives of thousands of children and adults, and to devise other operations to correct congenital and acquired defects. These same conditions had first to be successfully corrected in animals under the same sterile techniques and with the same anesthetics later used with humans in hospitals. Extensive developments in anesthesia were also made possible through human research.

But humans are not the only ones to benefit. Veterinary medicine, devoted to the preservation of animal health, has received immeasurable aid from the same research that has helped humans. Vaccines to guard against diphtheria and rabies, antibiotics and sulfa drugs to combat infections, new knowledge of dietary and nutritional needs — all have combined, in recent years, to nearly double the life of your pet.

Let there be no misunderstanding. Doctors do not want your pets. Many of them have pets of their own which they regard as highly as you do yours. In fact, cat and dog pets will receive more protection than ever under the Bill's provision to place all phases of animal handling under the direction of the Massachusetts Commissioner of Health.

Rebuttle On Released Time

To the Editor:

It is gratifying to note the thoughtful comments on my letter of Jan. 17 regarding released time from public school for religious instruction. As a Sunday school teacher, I too, would like to promote greater understanding of the ethical and religious insights which guide us.

I believe that this can be accomplished within the period of the 150 and more non-school days each year when there can be no question of infringing on the tradition of separation of church and state. I believe, too, that with young children religious attitudes and ethical behaviour is "caught" more than taught and that home and school environments can communicate ideals when parents and teachers are sensitive to opportunities. This is not to discount the value of formal religious instruction but to reinforce it and to help children live what they learn.

For the following reasons I am concerned about the imminence of a released time program here in Arlington:

—It threatens the independent character of the public school. Since part of the compulsory school day is "released" by the state on condition that the participating student devote this time to sectarian instruction, the state accomplishes by indirection what it admittedly cannot undertake to do directly.

—It provides a governmental constraint in support of religion.

It is a mechanism for divisiveness which is repeated at weekly intervals throughout the school year. Even most carefully administered, the program's inherent abuses become evident: subtle sectarian pressures might be exerted by overzealous teachers; non-participating children are frequently embarrassed.

The normal school program is disrupted. Because classroom activities generally remain static during the released time period, children who do not participate suffer an unnecessary loss of school instruction. It is my understanding that some children simply do not reach their religious centers. Where such unexcused absences occur, the program contributes to truancy.

One mother here in Arlington discussed with her minister the possibility of not having her child participate in a released-time program. He pointed out that this child would become conspicuous unless the child took part in the program.

Another mother felt that the free Wednesday afternoons were not feasible for religious instruction because it is too difficult to press the children to leave for church school during the week without the organization and supervision of the public school. It is simpler to promote the released time program when the youngsters have only the choice of leaving for religious instruction or remaining with a few others in schools.

In the majority decision of the McCollum case the Supreme Court declared: "Beyond all question any use of the tax-established public school system to aid religious groups to spread their faith falls squarely within the ban of the First Amendment. Children cannot be released from school to attend classes in religion while other children must remain to pursue secular education."

Evidently the formation of such a commission would be for the purpose of attracting new and larger taxpayers to Arlington.

As a property owner long interested in the problem of taxation in general, and our own spiraling tax rate in particular, I am of the belief that the idea of such a study shows forward and progressive thinking on the author or authors responsible for this article.

That Man About Town

By MAT

In case you did not note, the Mercantile Affairs Committee on Beacon Hill has recommended to exclude disability benefits from the veteran's source of income when figuring his eligibility for low-income housing.

We think the Registrars of Voters, as recommended by Town Clerk Golden, acted wisely that registration of voters be held in the East Arlington and the Dallin branch libraries rather than in school buildings. The opening of schools at night time is costly.

Seriously, we feel that there should be a town ordinance — we said so before — prohibiting election signs except on authorized billboards and in vacant stores where, it is presumed, some small fee is paid. While it is true a man's home is his castle and we would not wish to encroach upon that, still, a political sign on a private home or lawn implies that the neighborhood is for the candidate. Similarly, signs on utility poles and other municipal objects gives the impression that the utility company or the Town, itself, gives sanction.

ON MY OATH...

by

Frank Caldwell

Just read an essay by a Junior high school boy that was a lulu. The subject was "Courtesy" and he did a fine, impressive job.

We just don't give these kids enough credit. I imagine he spent lots and lots of time in preparation because it covered almost every phase of a fast disappearing art, the art of being courteous, which means to be affable and refined.

I personally think courtesy is a necessary complement to being what we call a gentleman. Look at Sir Walter Raleigh. We don't remember Raleigh for his cigarettes, but he has come down in history as a fine gallant squire just because he spread his cloak for that lady who hesitated at the mud puddle. That was courtesy first grade, A No. 1.

I often wondered what would have happened if it had been Mahatma Ghandi who met the lady instead of Walter.

The question has come up, it is courteous to tip your hat before striking your wife. That's a moot question and I think perhaps it's overdoing it a bit. If it requires an answer, I should say it all depended on the pugilistic aptitude of the lady in question and how adroit she was in landing a haymaker on the button.

It also might depend on how much the man might be in need of rest and sleep. For I know many a woman who can put a man to sleep with her clenched fist a lot quicker than two large economy size tins of Ammitone.

He had some nice ideas on courtesy, very thorough ideas and he could well be proud of this written dissertation. As a matter of fact I wanted to interview him. I made an appointment, but he couldn't keep it. He had to stay after school because he was rude to the teacher.

AHS Seeks Home For Exchange Student Here

The Arlington High School Student Council is planning to sponsor another American Field Service foreign student for the school year 1957-58.

Very shortly, Student Council Week will be held, at which time the students will raise the necessary funds for this project.

The most important problem of this project is the securing of an Arlington home for the student.

A year ago, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard D. Wood acted as the foster parents for Miss Gonul Sipahi from Istanbul, Turkey.

This year, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Keefe are the foster parents of a very delightful young lady from Sweden, Miss Christina Nyqvist.

The American Field Service has placed a deadline of Feb. 15 for the committee, this year, to secure the names of people who might be interested in acting as foster parents for a foreign student to attend Arlington high school next year.

It will be necessary to raise $1,075 to finance the foreign student's traveling expenses and the expenses of the Arlington high school student chosen to spend ten weeks in Europe during the summer months.

Benefit is derived both by the foreign student and a member of the Arlington high school junior class.

Any persons who would be interested in this program, by taking into their home a student of a foreign country, may contact Charles H. Downs, principal of Arlington high school.

No definite plans have been made for the wedding.

—Harry H. Baldwin, III, 77 Florence ave., chief consul of Boston Chapter, American Institute of Banking, will attend the Chapter's annual banquet Friday, Feb. 8, at 6:30 p.m. in the Imperial Ballroom of the Statler Hotel, Boston. They are vacationing at the Princess Hotel.

AHS Five Beats Newton Loses Twice In Week

Arlington high school's basketball team defeated Newton but dropped decisions to Brookline and Cambridge Latin in three Suburban League outings this week.

Arlington's league record is now 2-6.

Tomorrow afternoon at the Junior High West, the locals play host to Waltham, the league leader.

In downing Newton 45-43 this week, Arlington staved off a strong final period. Dave Gilpatrick with 13 points, Joe Skenderian with 12, and Charlie Piggott with ten, led the attack.

Against CHLS, the locals themselves put together a strong final stanza but did not have enough time to overhaul the Cantabs.

Jay Donevan scored seventeen points to take top honors for Arlington.

And then against Brookline, Coach George Lowder's five trailed all the way. Gilpatrick, Donovan and Skenderian each scored eight points.
